A. Summary

Reliable student nurse working towards a BSN with a demonstrated history of providing patient-centered care. Over ten years of experience as a Certified Nursing Assistant. I pride myself in attending to a diverse population and being technologically competent. Compassionate and capable of multi-tasking in a fast-paced team environment. Looking for a job that will allow me to grow both personally and professionally, and where I can develop my nursing skills.

B. Working Experience

January/2016 – April/2018 – Mercy Center Street Clinic, Charleston, West Virginia

Responsibilities:

- Perform rotations as a student nurse in medical-surgical, psychiatry, and obstetrics
- Assess patients when they come into the clinic
- Obtain any samples that are needed for stool, urine, and blood
- Take and record patients' vital signs

Achievements:

- Noted a patient's drastic change in vital signs, notified the physician on call, and was able to save patient's life before they had a potentially fatal heart attack
- Suggested change in floor rotation policy, resulting in a reduced nurse-patient ratio and quicker call light response times.

August/2008 – December/2016 – Main Street Nursing Home, Charleston, West Virginia

Responsibilities:

- Provide nursing assistant care in a 200-bed long-term healthcare facility
- Assist nurses in all applicable patient care, including vital signs, changing patients, giving showers, and looking for changes in patients' conditions
- Comply with all applicable HIPAA standards throughout family interactions, charting, and documentation

Achievements:

- Earned promotion to Lead Nursing Assistant
- Supervised the training of two new nursing assistants each year, from 2013-2016

C. Education and Academic Training

Bachelor of Science in Nursing Program - Charleston State University, Charleston, West Virginia - Estimated Graduation Date: May 2020

CPR Certification - West Virginia Red Cross - Current as of May 2018

State Nursing Assistant Certification - State of West Virginia - May 2008
